This amateur production of "Rope" is presented by

of Samuel French Ltd. www.concordtheatricals.co.uk.

My friend, I present an opportunity to be a part of THE event of 1929. You are cordially invited to bear witness to a triumph of the age that will be talked about for years to come.

A murder. A passionless, faultless, motiveless....PERFECT....murder. Granno and I have already done the deed, and now all that remains is the apex of our scheme. A party centred around the very chest where our victim is interred.

The arrogant poet Rupert Cadell, the clueless socialite Leila Arden, the ever so dull Kenneth Raglan, the pompous Sir Johnstone Kentley (whose son we have so deftly dispatched), and his ghastly sister Mrs Debenham. Those are our guests, and they shall spend their evening in blissful ignorance, the genius of our scheme beyond all of them.

No one can suspect, no one could suspect. For our plot is perfect, as you shall see.

Be here promptly, to witness the spectacle.

Wednesday 8th until Friday 10th November at 7:30pm, and a special afternoon showing at 2:30pm on Saturday 11 November

Yours, with Fondness

W. Brandon & C. Granillo
