Leeds Arts Centre presents
The House of Bernarda Alba
by Federico Garcia Lorca
Translated by Gwynne Edwards

"I could see the storm coming, but I never thought it would break so soon."

When her husband dies, Bernarda Alba locks the doors of her house to the outside world and begins eight years of mourning. Her five unmarried daughters have no choice but to obey her command. When the eldest daughter becomes engaged, the buried desires and jealousies of her sisters bubble to the surface with tragic consequences.

Completed shortly before he was murdered at the outbreak of the Spanish Civil War The House of Bernarda Alba was Lorca's last play; a tale of frustration and explosive passion in a household of women ruled by a tyrannical mother.
