

500 Local Children Will See "The Snow Queen"

For their production this year, the Leeds Children's Theatre are giving Hans Anderson's story "The Snow Queen," dramatised by Edith Marshall. The Christmas play will be presented in Leeds Civic Theatre, and the audiences will be composed largely of children in school parties.

Fully 500 boys and girls from Aireborough Grammar, Yeadon South View and Horsforth Featherbank and Woodside schools will be visiting the play at one or another of its 14 performances, which start on December 3, but this year no local child has a part. The secretary is Mrs. E. Brown, of Tabarin, Park Drive, Horsforth.

The producer is to be Mrs. Lucy Bradley, a Leeds school-teacher whose home is at Horsforth.
