WHO'S AFRAID OF VIRGINIA WOOLF?

At a small New England college, George and Martha invite new-comers Nick and Honey to join them for a drink after a party. What appears a simple invitation is soon revealed to be a ring-side seat for one hell of a marital row and a night of games and revelations from which none of them will emerge unscathed.

Edward Albee's 1962 play has received almost every major theatre award going and is probably best known for the film version starring Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor. Both funny and shocking, this rollercoaster of a play is one of the great American plays of the 20th century.
